A NEW EDINBURG PLANNED

The plan for the construction of a "New Edinburgh" was explained by Sir Patrick Abercrombie and the corporation's planning officer to members of the town council and city officials recently. A by-pass below Princess Street is suggested, making the street a two-decker way. At the same time electrification and covering-in of rail lines through the Princess Street Gardens is envisaged, and remodelling of "the Royal Mile" so that the Canongate may have its brewery renovated, thus leaving the neighbourhood of Holyrood House clear of industry.

Under the system to be made operative, tests will be required by those who are making application for drivers' licences for the first time. This will cover a large number of young people who have reached the required age.

Regulations also will require tests in the case of those who were involved in motor vehicle accidents during the past year.

These applicants will be required to satisfy the requirements laid down in the regulations and will be given tests under the supervision of the R. C. M. P.

The new system will come into operation in time for opening of 1948-49 license year on April 1. Owing to lack of sufficient time to establish machinery, it was found impossible to make the plan operative in 1947.

Visitor (looking over battleship): "and what do you sailors do when a leak springs a leak?"

MISS NATALIE MINUNZIE ON CONCERT TOUR

Miss Natalie Minunzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Minunzie, of Blairmore, rated as one of Canada's outstanding mezzo-soprano soloists, is on a concert tour in the southern part of the province.

On Wednesday she appeared at Cardston, the Stake M. I. A. sponsor of her concert, and tonight will sing in the L. O. S. auditorium at Lethbridge. We understand she has other engagements to fill in the district.

Miss Minunzie has been studying at the Academy of Music at Santa Barbara, California. She has won a scholarship to the Institute of Music, Philadelphia, and will go there immediately following her tour of Western Canada.

She recently appeared as a guest artist on the CBC Symphony program, Vancouver.

EARLY WEEK SNOWFALL

The Crows' Nest Pass in particular experienced another heavy snowfall the early part of this week. Snow fell early Monday morning and the temperature dipped to 30 degrees. Again Tuesday morning it snowed quite heavily and the entire district was covered under several inches of wet snow. Mild temperatures during the day caused the snow to melt in varying degrees with the results that the streets were slushy.

Motorists coaxing from Lethbridge to the Pass report No. 3 highway was soft and rough. At Brocket where there is a detour the soft roadbed caused several cars to get stuck.

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL

Two weeks ago the superintendent in charge of construction at the Municipal Hospital was scratching his head in bewilderment as he sought in vain effort to secure additional manpower. To-day all has changed and the manpower situation is indeed rosy.

Men from the harvest fields are coming back into the Pass and a number have signed up on the hospital to bring the labor situation up to full strength. As a result the construction is only one month behind schedule and with another few weeks of good weather a full work crew could catch up to the schedule.

One of the two boilers for the building has arrived in Calgary and will arrive at the site within the next few days. Plumbers were being sent down from Calgary to install it. The windows have been installed in the ground floor and a battery of stoves have arrived at the site and will be placed throughout the building to give temporary heat while partitions are erected on the various floors.

It is expected that concrete on the second floor will be poured next week thus completing the pouring of concrete on the building proper. Brick and tile will be moving out of the Redcliff plant at Medicine Hat within two weeks time and bricklayers are scheduled to arrive at the site shortly to start on the brick facing—Coleman Journal.

Some people are surly risers.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

A 10-inch fresh snowfall preceded by a days drizzling rain fell over this district the first part of this week.

Alvin Murphy and Pete Maloff were Calgary visitors for a couple of days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lank have returned from Olds where they enrolled their son Jimmy on the list of students for the ensuing term at the agricultural college there. While enroute, Mr. and Mrs. Lank visited friends in Calgary.

Dr. C. C. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Night, of Victoria, while enroute to Calgary and other points north, made a stop-over here the latter part of last week to renew old friendships.

Since the 19th of this month, birds identified as Wilsons Warblers have been seen here, flitting amongst the trees and piping their cheerful notes. As far as we can learn, this is the first appearance of these birds in these parts.

Nick Nicholson here, and Bob Cochran of Red Deer joined a hunting party of Calgary friends and are on a wildgoose shooting outing east of Calgary for a few days.

CANTERBURY REBUILDS

The task repairing the air raid damage to Canterbury Cathedral and its precincts has been going on steadily since the Canterbury Cathedral Appeal Fund was opened in July, 1946. So far, however, the work has been confined to minor restorations.

Many of the ancient Cathedral windows have been replaced, the tombs and monuments inside the building have been revealed once more, and installation of a new lighting and heating system has begun. Work is proceeding on the repair of damaged books and manuscripts, though the Cathedral library itself is a complete loss. Several bombed houses near the Cathedral have been repaired, and the King's School dining hall has been rebuilt.

Over £200,000 ($800,000) has been received in response to the Appeal. The King, the Queen, and Queen Mary headed the list of donors, and gifts have come from thousands of individuals, firms and institutions all over the world. But another £100,000 (£400,000) is needed and the work of raising the money is still going on.

Next year, appeals for Canterbury Cathedral will be launched simultaneously in Canada and Australia. Their gifts will be brought to Britain and formally handed over to the Archbishop of Canterbury by bishops from the two Dominions attending the Lambeth Conference in May, 1948. At the request of the countries themselves, these gifts will be devoted to specific works of restoration.

The Canadian contribution is to be used for repairing a row of historic houses near the Cathedral which were damaged in the raids of 1942. Australia will undertake a similar task, but its choice has not yet been made.

BRITAIN'S NEW CORPS OF TRAINED WOMEN PILOTS

Britain is forming a special volunteer corps of women who are qualified pilots. They are being enrolled as members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force Volunteer Reserve. Uniform and flying clothing are supplied without charge. Those who volunteer for this new corps are required to have completed at least one hundred hours solo flying and to be below 30. They are being enrolled for an initial period of two years. It is intended that these trained women pilots shall be employed on ferrying and communication work in non-operational areas during any period of emergency.

To Combat Drought

PRairie Wheat Farming has always been regarded as a precarious undertaking, for each year the crop is menaced by many factors which are beyond the control of the farmer. No matter how carefully he prepares the land and sows the seed, frost, heat, rust, insects and other hazards threaten the results of the year's work, and he cannot be sure of success until the harvest is over. It is true that experience, and agricultural research have helped materially to lessen some of these dangers which yearly threaten the Western wheat crop. Early-maturing varieties of wheat have been developed to offset the ravages of frost and rust resisting wheat have helped to eliminate that hazard. Programs of insect extermination and control have cut down on the amount of wheat damaged in that way.

A Great Enemy In Some Areas

The soil scientists at Swift Current, Saskatchewan, which may help to further cut down crop losses due to lack of moisture. Tests made under the supervision of Dr. J. L. Doughty, chief of the farm's soil laboratory, are expected to yield information which may help the farmer to determine whether there is enough moisture in the soil to assure him of a profitable crop. Through this knowledge, large sums annually spent on seed sown in areas where there is little hope of a successful crop, may be saved.

Forecasts To Help Farmers

The soil scientists at Swift Current have found that in the southern prairie areas, where rainfall is scarce, making up the southwest corner of the province, the average rainfall is never sufficient for even a fair crop, and part of the necessary moisture must be supplied from the soil. By measuring the amount of moisture in the soil in the spring, and again after harvest, it is hoped that eventually a method may be worked out by which the yield of any piece of land may be accurately predicted. Careful use of the land, from the point of view of moisture conservation will be an important factor in overcoming drought in those areas where the average rainfall is not sufficient to produce a good crop. It is expected that it will ten years before the experiments now being carried on will be completed, but it is encouraging to know that active measures are being taken to overcome the lack of rain, which is one of the greatest problems facing many Western farmers.

India Riots Create World Kid Shortage

MONTREAL—If you are not finding many kid shoes in the stores these days, you can blame it on the continuing violence in the new twin dominions of India and Pakistan.

Kid is the leather of India, but rising and consequent disruption of communications have prevented collection of the precious skins.

Tanners and shoe manufacturers on this side, eagerly awaiting consignments, say that even skins already collected are not available due to a shortage of stoves.

In the Punjab, many Moslems, who for years have controlled the kidskin industry, have been forced to flee. Only Moslems can work in slaughter houses. Hindus are forbidden by their religion.

India, with more livestock than any other country in the world, is also the world's chief supplier of goat and kid skins.

THE TILLERS

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

A familiar "man about the courthouse" was being discussed. "He used to be powerfully energetic," one old observer said. "For years he chased around like mad trying to get a political job."

"What does he do now?" someone asked.

"Nothing. He got the job."

"But, madam, I'm afraid you're making a mistake. I am a doctor, certainly, and I'm a doctor of music."

"I know that," replied the old lady, "and that's why I came to you. I've a terrible singing in my ears."

On going into the cow shed one morning, the farmer was greatly surprised to find his new hand, a town girl who had previously been employed in a factory, giving one of the cows a drink of milk from her pail.

"What are you doing that for?" he asked.

"Well," explained the girl, "the milk looked so thin to me, I thought I'd better put it through the process again."

On a radio quiz program, the assistant in the balcony announced the next contestant: "I have a paratrooper, sir."

"Where's the question for you soldier?" asked the quizmaster.

"How many successful jumps did a paratrooper have to make before he graduated?"

"Same immediate and logical answer," said the quizmaster. "All of 'em."

An English bride of a few weeks noticed that her husband was depressed.

"Gerald, dearest," she said, "I know something that would help you. Tell me to tell me what it is; you worries are not your worries now, they are our worries."

"Oh, very well," he said. "We've just had a letter from a girl in Manchester, and she's musing us for breach of promise."

"I want," said the house-hunter, "a small house in an isolated position at least five miles from any other house."

"I see," said the house agent, "with an understanding smile, "we want to practise the simple life."

"No," answered the house-hunter, "I want to practise the trombone."

"I won't live with you any more!

I'm going straight off to mother and I'm never coming back! What are you doing with the telephone?"

"I thought I'd find out about a train for you."

"I'm a crowibus, a passenger apologetically handed the conductor a ten-shilling note, saying, "I'm afraid I haven't any change."

"Don't worry," the conductor assured him grimly. "In a minute you'll have 119."

Scholarships To Be Provided By Beaver Club

Profits Of Operation Put To Good Use

LONDON—A sum of $120,000, left after the famous wartime Beaver Club closed, will provide scholarships at British Universities for Canadian ex-servicemen and their sons.

The first scholarship, equal in value to the Rhodes scholarships, which are worth $2,000 for three years, has been taken by Christopher Young, whose father Norman Young, headmaster of Ravenscroft school at Wimborne, was killed at Dieppe.

The fund will be available in the next few years as well as adding $16,000 to supplement grants made by the Canadian Department of Veterans Affairs to ex-servicemen studying in Europe.

The fund also has donated $2,000 to the British Victory Club and the Canadian Victory Club voluntary association, made up of workers who worked in the Beaver Club during the war.

The Club was founded in London under the chairmanship of Vincent Massey, former Canadian High Commissioner in London; Gen. H. D. G. Creer, Wartime Commander of the First Canadian Army; H. R. McMaster, Secretary of the Rhodes Trust; and the heads of the Universities of McGill and Toronto.

TO SAVE IS WISE

At a last minute check on arrangements for the sale of Canada Savings Bonds, which began on October 14th, Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, said he was satisfied that every Canadian would have a convenient opportunity to invest. Mr. Towers stated that the great majority of business executives evidently intended to operate the Payroll Savings Plan for the benefit of employees. "Sales to the general public," said Mr. Towers, "will be made by official agencies including approximately 3,000 branches of chartered banks and 675 investment dealers, trust and loan companies and other savings institutions. In addition, authorized investment dealers have appointed approximately 2,200 sub-agents to act for them in making widespread distribution of Canada Savings Bonds."

Officials of the Bank of Canada stated that the effect of the limit of $1,000 placed on holdings in any one name would reduce the total dollar sales in comparison to the results obtained last October when sales approached the five hundred million dollar mark. It was expected, however, that the number of purchases might equal the unexpected response to the First Series of Canada Savings Bonds when over one million two hundred thousand applications were recorded.

Shipments of supplies to all official sales agents and to more than fifteen thousand Payroll Savings establishments were completed on schedule. It is evident from correspondence received that official sales agents look for a widespread demand from the general public and that many Payroll Savings establishments expect participation by their employees to exceed participation in the First Series. An interesting feature revealed is that some companies which did not operate the Payroll Savings Plan last year have decided to install it this year.

The Second Series of Canada Savings Bonds bears interest at 2% for a period of ten years. A limit of $1,000 has been placed on holdings in any one name. All bonds are registered in the owners name, but may be cashed at any time for full face value, plus interest, at any bank in Canada.

ARRIVAL OF AIR TAXIS

The time is not far distant when it will be as common a thing to order an air taxi, as it was once to hire a horse-cab or to telephone now for an ordinary taxi. Britain's first air taxi, a Bristol Type 171 helicopter, has made its public appearance and its first flight was most satisfactory. The helicopter can carry three passengers as well as the pilot. The 450 h. p. engine has a 200 mile range at a nominal cruising speed of 100 m.p.h. At its rotor has only a 47 foot diameter, the helicopter can take off from and land on very small areas.

WORK OF CANADIAN LEGION SERVICE BUREAU

The sum of $24,144.31 in retrospective pensions was obtained for veterans in the month of September by the Canadian Legion according to a report issued by Chief Pensions Officer Richard Hale.

A grand total of 112 claims to pensions were won which means that these veterans in addition to receiving their retrospective pensions will get a monthly income for life besides free hospitalization for their pensionable ailments.

The great majority of these successfully established claims had already been rejected by the Canadian Pension Commission. The Legion report however stated that the Commission are always most helpful in providing facilities and documents to help the Legion prove the validity of the lost cases.

One outstanding benefit gained for a veteran was an increased pension for an ex-soldier who had been a prisoner of war in Italy. Upon discharge he found he was suffering greatly from tuberculosis and could only do light work and not maintain a permanent job due to his disability.

When applying for a pension his records showed that he had had a touch of T.B. prior to his enlistment. Therefore the Pension Commission admitted that his condition was aggravated by his service but "split the difference" and while admitting he was twenty-five per cent disabled allowed him a pension of fifteen per cent.

He brought his case to the Canadian Legion. Three times the Service Bureau brought his case up and each time did not gain any advantage. Undaunted the pension officers dug further into his medical history, put in long hours on medical research data and armed with new facts, for the fourth time they plucked this veteran's case.

This time they had such convincing proof that the soldier's condition had deteriorated while a prisoner of war, that they secured a one hundred per cent pension retroactive to the date of his discharge.

Not only did the Legion secure an increase from fifteen to one hundred per cent, but they also received a guarantee for the soldier that his pension could never be reduced below 50 per cent; thus protection is also provided for the widow and children who will be pensioned in the event of the death of the pensioner regardless of the cause of death.

This is but one of thousands that the Legion handles each year. Soon Remembrance Day will roll along again and with it the Legion's annual poppy sales which enables them to carry on this work.

Then there was the Scotsman who wouldn't buy his girl a parasol when he took her to the beach, but told her shady stories instead.

WILL GRAVEL HIGHWAY TO B.C. BOUNDARY

By the fall of 1948, Alberta will have a hard surfaced or gravelled highway all the way from the U.S. border through to the BC border in the Peace River district, according to plans announced recently by the provincial government.

The hard surfacing program will extend to Clyde Corner on the Peace River highway north of Edmonton. From that point to the BC border there will be a gravelled all-weather highway. This will link with the BC road from the border to Dawson Creek, the southern end of the Alaska highway.

The program as outlined recently to officials of the Alberta Motor Association which has long given emphasis to the need of a better highway system in the province, provides for the province expanding its road program next year.

With a hard surfaced or gravelled road all the way through the province to the BC border, Alberta will be in a strong position to attract tourist travel and will be able to meet demands of tourists heading for the Alaska highway.

Another point is that Alberta will be ready to link a completed road to the BC border one year ahead of the Hart highway which the coast government is building from Prince George to Dawson Creek.

A teacher a few days ago asked little Mary to compose a rhyme, using the word "Nellie." She finally got this one:

"There was a pretty girl named Nellie,
She fell in the water and wet her feet."

"Why, Mary," said the teacher, "that doesn't rhyme!"
"I know it doesn't; the water wasn't deep enough."

He: "I won't, I'm just trying to find out who has the gin at this party."

Girl: "Would you come to my aid in distress?"

Soldier: "My dear, it wouldn't make any difference what you had on!"

NOT AMUSED — For taking the famous beret of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, while he was eating, and hanging it on the statue of a lion, six cadets at England's Sandhurst military training college were condemned to stand in the stocks for 28 days. Monty was not amused at being kept waiting 30 minutes while subordinates looked for his hat at the school and ordered an investigation, threatening all the cadets with punishment unless the guilty ones came forward. Inscription on the lion's head where the beret was found reads, "The lion roars".

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

Have you picked the next goal in your career? It may be a job higher up. It may be a broadened field of operation. Or it may be a plan for improving a farm, store or other business. But, whichever applies in your case, the important thing is to choose some goal and work ceaselessly towards it.

But before you start, make sure that you are distinguishing properly between day-dreams and practical objectives. Then work out a definite plan of operation, utilizing all the information you can get on the subject.

It is helpful, too, to picture yourself as having already attained your goal. This has the effect of making you willing to assume more responsibility and to think progressively.

Even people who are content with their present status often yearn for a "better deal". But they get nowhere because they do not work towards a goal. If they did, they would soon achieve the success they want.

The main objective of the life insurance companies in Canada is to provide maximum security at the lowest possible cost. Much progress towards this goal has been made—for today over 4,500,000 Canadians are life insurance policyholders.

The Ladies Aid of Blairmore United Church wish to call your attention to the change of date of their annual bazaar of home cooking and sale from November 1st, to Wednesday, November 5th.

On opening their water taps on Sunday morning, residents got quite a surprise to find taps emitting a "river of mud". Investigation revealed strip mining operations south of Coleman in the water shed which supplies the town reservoir was the cause and the work was soon discontinued. As we go to press, the water supply is somewhat clearer, but all are advised to boil water for domestic use.

We regret that through an error two names were omitted from those who were helping at the "Get-Acquainted" tea of the Blairmore Public Library. They were those of Mrs. G. Lynn and Mrs. J. Piflik. These two ladies were the "power behind the guns". They were the ones who kept the fires burning and saw to it that tea was so piping hot and freshly made, in fact it was largely due to their voluntary effort that everything went so well. The late George Lynn was one of the first members of the Library board, and, thanks to him and his daughter, then Miss "Bunny" Lynn, the library kept its doors open in times of real depression.

Gus Howe was in town this week from Victoria on a visit to relatives.
